

Contents

Preface	i
Chapter 1	Stockmanship and range health 1
	The need for productivity 3
	Range plan basics 4
	Meet Bud Williams 6
	My first try 6
	It works on the range 8
	Low stress will work for you 9
	Good news...and a challenge 9
Chapter 2	Stress 11
	Look at it from the stock's view 11
	What stress produces 13
Chapter 3	Benefits of Stockmanship 17
Chapter 4	Basics of high control 21
	Three basics to better control 22
	The core of high control and low stress 26
	Setting goals 27
	Placing 900 pair on a mountain side 27
Chapter 5	Handling principles and behavioral traits 29
	Principles are handling basics 30
	Motivating cattle with pressure 31
	Lessons 34
	Essential cattle traits 40

Chapter 6	Mindset of a good rider	51
	Traditional handling	51
	Accommodating emotional aspects	56
Chapter 7	What your stock can and should do well	63
Chapter 8	Techniques that help build trust	67
	Diagrams
	Training stock to take pressure from the sides and back	68
	Turning stock by pressuring the hip	69
	Turning stock by pressuring the neck and head	70
	Letting stock slow by going up the sides	71
	Training stock to be comfortable going by you and move ahead as you go by	72
	Turning stock by moving out to the side	73
	Starting a herd—training a herd out on pasture or range to pick up movement and start moving as a herd	74
	Starting a herd—trained or calmer animals in fenced pasture or corner of corral	75
	Starting a trained herd to go in a desired direction	76
	Letting stock slow down by zig-zagging in front	77
	Driving a calmer herd, zig-zagging behind	78
	Working a herd with more than one rider, keeping it going straight	79
	Working a herd with more than one handler, turning a herd right	80
	Working a stalled-out herd (calmer herd)	81
	Getting a lined-out herd through a gate	82
Chapter 9	Before heading out on the range	83
	Some basic rules	84
	Strategies for getting animals calm and responsive	84
	Individual animals—taking basic pressure explained	87
	Handling wilder stock	92
	Moving a herd	93
	Solving movement problems	98
	Turning techniques for a herd	105
	Stopping for placing the herd	107
	Summary hints	111

Chapter 10	Making a grazing plan work	119
	Riparian problems	119
	Riparian loafing solutions	120
	Summary	122
	Make your cattle a herd	122
	Stop them from leaving the range early	122
	Too much help	123
	Combining different brands into one herd	123
	Major moves	125
	Bunch quitters on the range	125
	Return bunch quitters with the straight line technique	126
	Heading off potential bunch quitters	126
	Culling sensitive animals	128
	Placing stock	128
	Pass Creek: A short story about bunch quitters	130
	Placing stock	131
	Canyon strategy	132
	Train animals before turnout	132
	Achieving herd effect	132
	They're back...running a rotational system without fences	133
	The cow that waited	137
	Stampede	137
	Taking stress off stock	137
	An example	138
	The replacement concept	139
Chapter 11	A few final words	141
Glossary		145
Resources		149

